

About > DESQ

Since 1998, DESQ has been creating innovative and absorbing digital learning experiences. We bring the best of new media to learning. We blend entertainment and education, learning and play. We make digital learning materials to support formal education in schools and colleges as well as informal learning experiences.

We develop for a range of audiences (from pre-school children to adults) across a range of subjects (from literacy, numeracy and science to vocational subjects). We work across a range of platforms - web, CD-ROM, SCORM compliant Virtual Learning Environments, mobiles, interactive TV and paper.

We develop e-learning course content and tailor-made interactive materials. DESQ is an innovator in learning games production in the UK. We develop game-based learning titles that combine video game play and learning. We work on our own R&D projects, exploring the boundaries of interactive media in teaching and learning.

Our talented and experienced team develop reliable and effective solutions for clients, time and time again, whatever the learning environment.
