

ALT-C 2011 – Thriving in a Colder and More Challenging Climate

The 18th international conference of the Association for Learning Technology

6 – 8 September 2011, University of Leeds, UK

Sponsorship and exhibition opportunities and booking arrangements

This document:

- provides an overview of the conference, and our expected delegate breakdown
- describes the opportunities for organisations to sponsor the 2011 ALT Conference
- explains arrangements and prices for exhibiting
- summarises the deadlines and process for booking to be a sponsor and/or to exhibit

About ALT and the ALT conference

Learning technology is the range of communication, information and related technologies that can be used to support learning, teaching, and assessment. The Association for Learning Technology (ALT) is a UK-based professional and scholarly association which seeks to bring together all those with an interest in the use of learning technology (<http://www.alt.ac.uk/>). One of our major activities is to organise ALT-C, the UK's main conference for practitioners, researchers, and policy-makers in the learning technology domain. ALT-C is typically attended by well over 600 delegates: from all over the world; from universities, colleges, and other learning providers; from business; and from key Government agencies.

Conference Co-Chairs

- John Cook, Professor of Technology Enhanced Learning at the Learning Technology Research Institute, London Metropolitan University.
- Sugata Mitra, Professor of Educational Technology at Newcastle University.

In 2011, education systems throughout the world are attempting to do more, better, and often with less. As the political, economic, social, agency and technological landscapes change, it is tempting for people in the learning technology community simply to "go on with vigour, hoping for the best". But this would be to miss a major opportunity.

Innovation is strongly stimulated by crises and pressures of all kinds. Our challenges are to:

- analyse and plan, and create and marshal evidence;
- demonstrate the benefits of astute deployment of technology to support learning;
- listen to and involve learners, teachers, and institutional leaders;
- draw on know-how and practice internationally, from across and outside our individual fields;
- take an institutional approach, whilst focusing on openness and frugality.

Time, the social tide, the expectations of learners, and economic pressure at organisational level will themselves be a driving force for innovation. The scope for people in our community to make a difference is great.

The ALT-C 2011 themes are:

1. Research and rigour – creating, marshalling and making effective use of evidence
2. Making things happen – systematic design, planning, and implementation
3. Broad tents and strange bedfellows – collaborating, scavenging and sharing to increase value
4. At the sharp end – enabling organisations and their managers to solve business, pedagogic and technical challenges
5. Teachers of the future – understanding and influencing the future role and practices of teachers
6. Preparing for a thaw – looking ahead to a time beyond the disruptive discontinuities of the next few years

Keynote speakers include:

- Miguel Brechner, President of the Uruguayan Centre for Technological and Social Inclusion (CITS), and head of Plan Ceibal, Uruguay's One Laptop Per Child (and Teacher) project, under which all children and teachers in public schools in Uruguay have received their own laptop and connectivity to the Internet.
- Karen Cator, Director of the Office of Educational Technology at the U.S. Department of Education, and previously head of Apple's leadership and advocacy efforts in education, where she focused on the intersection of education policy and research, emerging technologies, and the reality faced by teachers, students and managers.
- John Naughton, Professor of the Public Understanding of Technology at the Open University, a Fellow of Wolfson College, Cambridge, the Observer's technology columnist and co-founder of the technology start-up Cambridge Visual Networks.
- Rajendra S. Pawar, Indian educationalist, entrepreneur and business leader.

About Leeds

ALT-C 2011 will be held at the University of Leeds. One of the largest universities in the UK, Leeds is acclaimed world-wide for the quality of its teaching and research. Its size and international reputation enables the University to offer one of the widest ranges of academic courses in the UK.

Sponsoring ALT-C 2011

Rather than concentrate the financial burden of sponsorship on a small number of organisations, or create a complex hierarchy (platinum, gold, etc). ALT is flexible and inclusive. As we explain below there are two categories of sponsorship: Major”, and “Contributing”, and we define Major Sponsors who commit before the end of February 2011 as “Major Anchor Sponsors”.

Mindful of the tough economic conditions we have held all our prices for 2011 at the 2010 levels which reflect that of 2009.

Major sponsorship

Major sponsors are the lifeblood of ALT-C and their contribution is crucial to the overall success of the conference.

Costs

For existing sponsoring members of ALT	£2,600
For all others	£3,850

Benefits

Major anchor sponsors commit to sponsorship and are invoiced before the end of February 2011, and thereby secure earlier and longer exposure as sponsors. Other major sponsors commit to sponsorship by the end of May 2011. The overall benefit package is:

- Prominent identification – including your organisation’s name and logo – as a major sponsor on conference printed material, and on the conference web site, and listing as a major sponsor in all media releases relating to the event, and on all paid-for advertising for the conference.
- Tickets for up to 2 people to attend the conference dinner. Names required by no later than Friday, 29 July 2011.
- An entitlement to run 1 sponsor’s presentation – 1 x 45 minute breakout session, either seminar style or hands-on (dependant on room availability). Presenters must normally be registered as full conference delegates by Wednesday, 29 June 2011. An abstract for your presentation must be provided by Wednesday, 29 June 2011 for inclusion in our conference publications and our website.
- A 33% discount on the cost of being an exhibitor at the conference – subject to availability – provided exhibition space is booked at the same time as the commitment to sponsorship is made.
- A 33% discount on the cost of any of the additional sponsorship opportunities. These are listed below.
- A 33% discount for up to 2 delegates to attend the full conference (booking deadline Friday, 12 August 2011).

Commitments received by Friday, 25 February 2011 will entitle your organisation to exposure as a major sponsor from March 2011. Otherwise the deadline for response is Friday, 27 May 2011, with exposure as a major sponsor thereafter.

Contributing sponsorship

Some organisations cannot commit to the costs of major sponsorship, but nevertheless want to show their support for ALT-C. Any selection from the additional opportunities listed below that involves a financial commitment of more than £1,200 will entitle you to be defined on the conference web site and in our conference publications as a contributing sponsor. These additional opportunities are booked on a first come first served basis, and in case of duplicate bookings we try to find mutually agreed alternatives. Contributing sponsors will be identified as such on the conference web site and in our conference publications.
