

Call for Programme Committee members for ALT-C 2008

ASSOCIATION FOR LEARNING
TECHNOLOGY

1. The Association for Learning Technology's 2008 conference, ALT-C 2008, will be held in Leeds, UK, 9 to 11 September 2008. The co-chairs, Dr Jill Jameson (University of Greenwich, UK) and Dr John Sandars (University of Leeds, UK), and ALT's Trustees, are seeking Programme Committee (PC) members to take an active part in planning the programme, reviewing papers and chairing sessions at the conference. We encourage applications from all areas of education, particularly from further education and adult and community learning, from industry, and from outside the UK.
2. The theme for ALT-C 2008 will be "Rethinking the digital divide". ALT-C 2008 will explore the complex dichotomies presented by learning technologies to citizens, learning providers, and society. The conference will extend the debate over the 'digital divide', providing a forum for practitioners, researchers and policy-makers to develop their thinking and practice.
3. To learn more about ALT and ALT-C see <http://www.alt.ac.uk/>
4. PC members must be able to commit, during March and April 2008, to:
